🪪 Profile

I'm a web developer with a strong command of modern web technologies, always eager to push boundaries and stay current with industry trends. I focus on building efficient, scalable, and user-friendly applications, constantly refining my approach to deliver innovative solutions that meet both technical and user needs.

📁 Latest Projects

Tarafue ↗   08/2024 - 10/2024
Legal services
I developed the frontend for a legal services platform that offers electronic access to legal services, making the process more efficient and convenient for users. The platform allows clients to access legal assistance remotely, reducing the need for in-person consultations. By building a user-friendly interface, I helped streamline legal workflows, enhancing accessibility and improving the overall experience for users seeking legal support online. This project contributes to modernizing the legal industry with a focus on convenience and efficiency.

Aceem ↗   03/2024 - 05/2024
A project for a real estate company, the website is divided into two parts. The first part is an informational section about the company and the announced auctions for various properties. The second part is an interactive map, where users can browse project locations on the map using Leaflet. When clicking on the projects, they can browse the floors, units, and also the rooms in a 3D view.

City Mosque Preston ↗   03/2024 - 05/2024
The website includes information about the mosque, prayer times, books, audio, video, and islamic books. all using Next.js features like SSR, SSG, and ISR for better loading performance.
